VOWS Safety/Security Committee

National Night Out (NNO) is an annual event that encourages residents all across the country to get out in their communities, hold block parties and get to know their neighbors as a way to encourage crime prevention. Due to the heat, state of Texas has theirs the first Tuesday in October so VOWS NNO will be Tuesday, October 3, 2017.

VOWS Safety/Security Committee is gathering interest of those who would like to host their own National Night Out block parties. Our VOWS HOA will reimburse each party up to $200*. This will be on a first come, first approved, limited number! If you and your neighbors would like to host a block party, please contact the VOWS Safety/Security Committee at safety.vows@gmail.com soon! Application from VOWS SSC will be sent to those who show interest. Deadline to submit your interest will be Thursday, September 7, 2017 or will close earlier if our limit is reached. VOWS NNO Informational Meeting will announced later for those approved hosts along with the list of police, fire, EMT, city, community, state leaders/entities that will be available to come make an appearance at your block party.

This is a fun and purposeful event for the neighborhood! Let's encourage residents to put down the electronics, get out behind the screens, come meet your neighbors and those who work hard to make it better & safer!

* $200 for each party will be used for food, non-alcoholic beverages and table ware (disposable plates/bowls, cups, napkins/paper towels, utensils) ONLY. Purchase of decorations, craft supplies, games, tables, chairs, etc., will not be included in the reimbursement. CODE BLUE CONNECTION

Most residents of Woodland Springs only travel down their own street, seeing the same homes and cars day or night. Next time you drive down your street, try to think what the bad guy sees as they travel your street. Is it cluttered with cars and trucks? Is it very dark and not well lit at night? Are the bushes or hedges covering the windows, walkway or the addresses? Are the trees over-grown and the underbrush too close to the ground? These are all prime targets for the bad guys. They like dark, obscured locations where they can conceal their criminal behavior.

Here are some good tips to keep your property more visible.

1. Keep bushes trimmed and no higher than the window sills.
2. Trim the under growth of the trees, so there are no dangling limbs near the ground.
3. Look out the front window to make sure nothing obstructs the view of the front yard.
4. Use motion lights and leave porch lights on with energy efficient bulbs at night and when on vacation.
5. Install video cameras or a video doorbell.
6. Register your cameras with the Fort Worth Police Dept.
7. Park your vehicle in the garage.
8. Always close your garage door and lock your cars.

As Citizen's on Patrol we drive all the streets and notice how dark some streets are compared to others. This month I would like to commend the residents of two streets that do an excellent job of leaving porch lights on and making the street very visible at night. These two streets just happen to be on the west side of N. Beach, Twinflower (near N. Riverside) and Grapeleaf (near Keller Hicks). It's a pleasure driving down these two streets because the residents leave their porch lights on at night, making the streets very well lit. Thank you for helping make your area safer.

ADVANTAGES OF OUTDOOR LIGHTING

Outdoor season is here! What better way to enjoy the outdoor season than by getting outside on your patio, deck or pool areas. Extend the pleasure of being outside into the night by adding outdoor lighting. There are numerous benefits and advantages to illuminating your yard, your home, your deck or patio as well as spotlighting certain areas around your home at night.

You experience a secure feeling when your yard and landscape is well-lit. Outdoor lighting can detour and discourage theft and trespassing. If you don't want to leave outdoor lights on all night, consider a light with motion detection.

You will be safer with outdoor lighting to navigate walkways, steps, driveways, patios and pool areas. Simply adding plastic solar LED pathway lights is very effective and is extremely cost efficient. The more light, the safer you, your family and guests will be.

You can decorate with outdoor lighting to showcase a particular tree or garden area and incorporate splashes of light around your flower beds to highlight their blooms. Include mood lighting or color changing solar LED lights in your landscape and potted plants for a fun, playful feel. Outdoor string lights create a romantic atmosphere crisscrossed over your backyard or patio. And for a party feeling all season long, place whimsical lights on your patio umbrella.

You will be more relaxed on your patio or porch with ambient lighting. Your patio, deck and porch are extended living areas of your home so use outdoor lighting to generate a tranquil outdoor area. Place a battery operated candle or mini string lights into an outdoor lantern to create a warm and cozy feel.

Finally, placing outdoor spotlights on the exterior of your home presents a well-cared for appearance adding valuable curb appeal to your home and the entire neighborhood. Inexpensive solar LED spotlight stakes found at DIY and hardware stores strategically positioned to shine and accent your home can have a huge impact on curb appeal. Appraisers and potential buyers consider outdoor spotlights to be desirable added amenities.

Outdoor lighting accentuates the charm and elegance of your home at night. It also helps to create enjoyable gathering spaces while increasing security and safety for you, your family and friends.

Pools Closed for Maintenance on Monday:
Timberland Amenity Center Pool, Bray Birch Pool and Wild Pear Pool

Pools Closed for Maintenance on Tuesday: Slide Pool (Woodland Springs), Old Denton Pool and Angel Food Pool.

Pool closures can happen for a number of reasons such as lightning, emergency phone failure or mechanical failure of the filtration and chemical water purification systems. But perhaps the one that occurs most often is

FECAL CONTAMINATION.

Not a popular topic to be sure, but one we must discuss. This pool-closing event is avoidable to a great extent by taking a few simple steps:
Use the rest room before you get into the pool.
Take regular bathroom breaks.

Use rubber pants in addition to diapers (swim-proof or not). This is a VOWS Pool Rule and is MANDATORY. The pool monitors have been instructed to make sure that rubber pants are being worn in addition to diapers. Bathers not in compliance with this rule will be instructed to leave the water.

In order to keep residents informed of pool closures, we have created a POOL STATUS tab at www.woodlandsprings.com. During business hours, we will keep this webpage updated with the latest pool closure information.

COVENANT CORNER

On our property drives, we have noticed several lawns with dying or no sod. The Villages of Woodland Springs CC&R's state that each owner must maintain an attractive ground cover of grass or sod on all yards visible from a street. We've been asked by homeowners for suggestions on how to grow grass in shaded areas. Here are some tips for getting the grass to grow in the shade:

1. Shady Spot

You can grow a pretty swath of lawn in a shady spot, as long as you pick the right grass and take care of it properly. Most turf grasses need at least four hours of direct sun to survive, but specialized shade-tolerant grass blends thrive in four hours of dappled sun or partial shade. In cool-season grass category, the shade-tolerant grasses are rye and fine and tall fescues. Warm-season grasses that grow in the shade include Zoysia and St. Augustine.

2. Prune your trees

Many times shady areas beneath trees and tall shrubs can be lightened up by pruning limbs. As you prune, aim to thin the canopy so that sunlight can penetrate to grass beneath. With trees, it's also a good idea to remove lower branches in a process called "limbing up". By raising the canopy of the tree, you're creating opportunities for sunlight to reach turf by slanting in beneath branches. Tackle the pruning you can handle yourself with two feet on the ground. If you have mature trees, talk with a certified arborist.

3. Aerate

Shady lawn areas benefit from soil aeration, which creates holes in soil and exposes the root zone of grass. These holes allow for water, fertilizer and air to reach grass roots. When to aerate depends on what kind of grass you have. Tackle aeration so it's done just before grass enters its peak growing phase. Aerate warm-season turf in late spring or early summer and cool-season grasses in early fall. Time fall aeration so it allows grass four weeks of active growth before your region's average first frost. For the best aeration, use a core aerator that pulls actual plugs of soil from the lawn. In small shady areas, plunging a digging fork into soil accomplishes the task quickly and inexpensively. Aerate whenever the thatch layer is more than on-half- inch thick.

4. Add Organic Matter

Grass in shady areas needs less fertilizer than grass growing in full sun. Spreading a thin layer of compost is a great way to give shady lawns a boost in early spring. If you plan to aerate, spread compost after aerating. It's also a good idea to apply compost before over seeding thin, shady turf. The compost layer should be thin enough that you can still see the grass blades after it's applied. Use a push broom to spread it and work it between individual grass plants.

5. Choose the Right Grass Seed Spend money on quality grass seed, whether you're sowing a shady area for the first time or over seeding an existing thin lawn. A quality seed blend should include several different types of shade-tolerant grasses. That way, if one grass fails to succeed, there's another to take its place. The label on quality grass seed should show weed seed content less than one percent and inert material content less than four percent. Never buy grass seed with a germination rate less than 70 percent.

6. Overseed With a Drop Spreader

If you're starting a shady lawn from scratch, use a drop spreader for controlled seed distribution. Overlap on each pass to ensure you have adequate seed coverage. A broadcast or rotary spreader works well when you're seeding larger shady areas. You'll typically pay more for a drop spreader, but if you're tending a typical suburban-size lawn, it's worth the investment.

7. Knowing When to Water

A shady lawn doesn't use water as quickly as sun-drenched turf. If your shady lawn is courtesy of a building shadow, you won't need to water as frequently as if your shaded grass is caused by overhead trees. In this situation, you can't always count on rain-fall making it through the tree canopy to soak soil. You also have tree roots competing or any available water. By watering grass deeply but infrequently, you'll encourage deeper roots to form, which is vital for shady grass to survive.

8. Don't Over Cut

Keep grass in shady areas ½ to 1 inch taller than in the sunny parts of your yard. This gives each grass blade a greater area to conduct photosynthesis, which is the process that fuels grass growth. Take caution not to scalp shady lawn areas, as they frequently don't recover. Most often this occurs during the first spring mowing, especially if you lowered the mowing deck last fall for the final mowing. Develop the habit of stopping and changing mowing height each time you come to your shady lawn section.

9. Fertilizing

On average, give shaded lawn areas roughly on-half to two-thirds less nitrogen per year compared to sunny lawns. In cold regions, apply winterizer fertilizer in fall at half the recommended rate.

10. Consider a Pathway

Minimize all stresses that might affect grass growing in shady areas. Keep foot traffic to a minimum. Consider installing stepping stones or a simple mulch path to protect grass. If you have children, try to avoid using the shady lawn as a play area. Do not allow pets to visit that area for potty breaks. It's also a good idea to vary your mowing patterns in shady areas. They're even more susceptible to suffering from compacted soil and ruts.

11. Spot Spray Weeds

Limit herbicide applications in shady lawn areas unless you have a weed problem. Try to spot spray weeds as needed. Herbicides can be stressful to grass, and in a shady lawn, you want to avoid all stress.

12. Overseeding

Thicken a thin lawn by overseeding. Simply tossing seed onto the soil by hand can improve a shady lawn immensely. Do it consistently each year, and you'll find you're tending a healthy patch of turf. Remember not to skimp on seed quality. Overseed up to twice a year: in early spring before trees leaf out and again in early fall (at least four weeks before your region's average frost date). Don't forget to water after overseeding until new grass is established. Avoid mowing too soon or too often to limit foot traffic on the new grass.

13. Groundcover Options With ACC Approval

If you can't get turf to survive in a small shady area, consider planting a shade-tolerant, low-maintenance groundcover, like Japanese pachysandra, hay-scented fern, sweet woodruff, European ginger, liriopse or hosta. This works especially well when dealing with planting areas beneath trees, where tree roots serve stiff competition to turf.

14. Landscaping Alternative

With ACC Approval

For larger shady areas that are just too dark to grow a nice lawn, study shady landscapes to find concepts you like and can easily, affordably adapt to your yard. A shady spot always provides a great area for seating. Natural stone blends beautifully in shade gardens, whether it's a stone path or stone bench. Avoid large water features if your shade is caused by deciduous trees, or you'll be devoting time to fishing leaves from water or cleaning skimmer baskets.

Sun Hats

Everyone knows sunscreen and sunblock are essential products for protecting your skin from damaging UV rays. Too much sun exposure is known to cause irreversible skin damage as well as increase chances of skin cancer. Many times when out in the sun people do not cover their heads properly choosing a baseball hat or visor. To minimize damage to your skin, face and head you should wear a sun hat.

A sun hat has a wide brim that covers your face, neck, nape and shoulders. Typically a sun hat is made of breathable cotton or straw with a protective lining. An adjustable inner drawstring in a sun hat insures a perfect fit and reduces the risk of losing your hat in windy weather. In addition, a good sun hat will be made of sun protective fabric and will have a UPF (Ultraviolet Protection Factor) rating of 50+. It has been said, "For every inch of brim you wear, you reduce your lifetime risk of skin cancer by 10%. So a 6" brim means 60% risk reduction."

Wearing a sun hat also provides sufficient shade, minimizing the risk of heat stroke and helps your body remain cool. Whether you are playing on the beach, walking your dog or working in your yard, for ultimate sun protection on your face and head, wear a sun hat.

Woodland Springs Homeowner's Association

The purpose of a homeowners association (HOA) is to maintain, enhance and protect the common areas and interests of the subdivision or neighborhood. Individual homeowners, as members of the association, pay periodic assessments, support & utilize neighborhood amenities (ponds, pools, parks, tennis courts, etc.). The assessments pay for community expenses such as entrance monuments, landscaping, amenities like clubhouses, tennis courts, or walking trails, insurance for commonly-owned structures and areas, an on-site management company, or any other item delineated in the governing documents or agreed to by the homeowners' association.

Currently, the Advisory Committee, which is comprised of elected residents, is the intermediate group between the residents and the Board of Directors and Centurion American (VOWS developer). This will continue until full development of VOWS is completed. The sub-committees report to the Advisory Committee. All residents are invited to attend Advisory Committee meetings which are normally held the 4th Tuesday of each month at 6:30pm at the Amenity Center on Timberland.
